

Tristan Foureux, Co-founder & CEO

Tristan Foureux is the co-founder and CEO of CardNexus. A repeat technical founder, he previously co-founded WeMaintain, where he served as CTO and helped scale the company to 300 employees, operations across four countries, more than $35M in ARR, and over $50M raised. Earlier in his career, Tristan held engineering and infrastructure roles at companies including Plivo, Telemetry, KRDS and AdopteUnMec, building high-scale systems across cloud infrastructure, real-time bidding, VoIP, SaaS and consumer products. At CardNexus, he combines deep technical expertise, marketplace experience and a lifelong interest in trading card games to lead the company's strategy, product vision and fundraising.

Julie Le Soymier, Co-founder & CPO

Julie Le Soymier is the co-founder and Chief Product Officer of CardNexus. She brings more than a decade of experience across product design, brand, consumer apps and operational tooling, with previous roles including Lead Product Designer at WeMaintain, Head of Design at Shopmium and Brand & Product Designer at AdopteUnMec. Her work spans consumer growth, UX, brand storytelling and pragmatic product execution, including building no-code operational systems that supported WeMaintain's international expansion. At CardNexus, Julie leads product experience, design and user understanding, with a focus on making trading card collection management and marketplace interactions intuitive, trusted and engaging for players, collectors and sellers.

Gaultier Romon, Co-founder & CTO

Gaultier Romon is the co-founder and CTO of CardNexus. A senior full-stack engineer and long-time trading card game collector and competitive player, he brings both deep technical execution and first-hand domain expertise to the company. Before CardNexus, Gaultier spent seven years at WeMaintain, where he was the first technical hire and helped build the company's front-end architecture, engineering team and core product platforms across web, mobile and data-driven SaaS products. He also worked as a senior front-end developer at Qovery, where he helped build the foundations of its developer platforms. At CardNexus, Gaultier leads engineering and platform architecture, drawing on more than 10 years of software experience and over 15 years in the TCG ecosystem.